Housing:

- Homeowner Housing Rehabilitation Program: The Consortium members met with the County Neighborhood Preservation Program (NPP), which has run the homeowner housing rehabilitation program for a number of the cities for several decades. Since the recession, the program has struggled with greatly reduced staffing for loan processing and inspection. This has resulted in a substantial decrease in the rehabilitation projects they can handle for the cities, to the point where they are only rehabilitating one home per year in Antioch.

After discussion with the affected cities of Antioch, Pittsburg, and Walnut Creek (Concord contracts with Hello Housing), the County has decided to end their rehab program with other jurisdictions and focus on their internal program for urban county residents.

Consortium members then reached out the Hello Housing and Habitat for Humanity, which has developed a residential rehab program. Hello Housing board, they have decided not to take on further clients, but Habitat is working on their application for all jurisdictions (except Concord). Antioch's housing consultant has also reached out to Stockton and Sacramento to see if there are agencies to the east that might be willing to expand into Contra Costa.

- Vista Diablo Mobile Home Estates: Letters are ready to send to lower income residents of Vista Diablo who are receiving the City's rental subsidy. The letter informs them, for the second time, of the end of the rent subsidy on September 30, 2017. It also includes a list of all subsidized affordable senior housing, as well as information about 211 and the upcoming Tabora Gardens Project.

After reaching out to Kort and Scott (Sierra Management), the company that owns the development, they asked us to delay sending the letters until management has a meeting with the owners on 11/22/16. They did not elaborate as to what would be the subject of that meeting. However, they will be sending their invoice for the next six months of subsidy right away so it appears that the subsidy will continue through September of next year.

The source of funding for this subsidy was the former Antioch Development Agency, and the contract terminates at that time. There have been no new funds provided or identified that can be used for this purpose. In addition to the City subsidy ending, the agreement with Sierra Management, the owner Vista Diablo Mobile Estates to retain the Senior Living nature of this community and limit rent increases will also end in September 2017.

Once active, the Contra Costa Housing Security Fund will be able to cover those costs and also offer financial benefits to landlords who offer our clients an opportunity. The fund will be managed by a well-established community nonprofit and all participants will be pre-screened. This fund will directly help get hard-to-place homeless persons off the streets and into housing with the services they need!

You can make your donation online at: <http://tinyurl.com/HousingSecurityFund> and your donation is tax deductible to the fullest extent allowed by law. You can also drop off a check donation at City Hall, attention Teri House, and it will be delivered to the Foundation.
